

My name's Caitlin Shentall. I left Abbey Hey in 2006 and my brother Ellery left in 2008; we loved being at Abbey Hey and enjoyed thinking back to our time there!

In 2015 Ellery went to Oxford University to study French and Philosophy. This was such a huge achievement, and we are still so proud of him. Since graduating, he has been working as a Civil Servant (this means he helps the government to keep things running).

I went to Lancaster University in 2013 to study History. Since then, I have worked in lots of different jobs, but most recently I have moved to Spain to learn Spanish and to teach in a Spanish school. I love learning new things even though I finished school many years ago!
